ONLY IN TORONTO. ONLY UNDER THE GARDINER.

2 RE-INTRODUCING THIS STRUCTURE TO THE PUBLIC WITH FRESH MEANING. VITALITY AND EXPERIENCE.

3

How to re-invent this urban infrastructure as the next great civic contribution?What could be the civic contribution in this particular place, taking advantage of this particular structure?

This piece of infrastructure has a storied past and carries a lot of baggage as a 'barrier' in the cityboth physically and mentally.

The project will directly engage with one of Toronto's most polarizing elements and topics (Take it down! Make it higher!) to reveal one of the city's most under-estimated spatial conditions.

STITCHING THE CITY ACROSS ITS MOST WIDELY DISCUSSED PHYSICAL/MENTAL DIVIDE.

4 A PRELUDE TO THE WATERFRONT.

5 EMBRACING THE PAST, PRESENT AND FUTURE-ON AN ON-GOING BASIS.

6 A FULL MENU OF

For many visitors and residents, their first contact with the Lake may not be with the Lake itself. The unique position of this structure's alignment near Toronto's original shoreline makes it implicitly connected to the waterfront experience.

This is a point in the city where multiple histories intersect and our densifying city continues to evolve. The project has the potential to both acknowledge its proximity to the National Historic Site while also promoting a new creative culture in the core – a public culture yet to be imagined.

ACTIVATION! The multiplicity of possibilities and functions within the public realm will keep it vital.

OVERLAPPING PROGRAMS AND POSSIBILITIES.

7 CAPTURING STRANGE BEAUTY.

8 ACTIVATION AND ALL-SENSORY EXPERIENCES ROOTED IN THE PLACE.

9

Could the project heighten the contrast and therefore the legibility between this massive, singular infrastructure and the character and complexity of the city which confronts its edges?

Can we imagine public realm activation initiatives synchronized to the specificities of this context? How to emphasize unique relationships between activity and place to create some of the most memorable experiences in the city?

How to conceptualize this public space? What models can serve as a guide?
